5TH ANNUAL REPORT BY THE NATIONAL OBSERVATORY ON VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN

EXECUTIVE REPORT

Article 30.2 of Organic Law 1/2004, of 28 December, on measures to provide comprehensive protection against gender-based violence (hereafter referred to as the Comprehensive Protection Law), establishes that the National Observatory on Violence against Women shall produce an annual report on violence against women in accordance with the terms of Article 1.1 of the Comprehensive Protection Law.

This 5th Annual Report was approved by plenary meeting of the Observatory on 5 July 2013.

Reports approved and published

The four preceding annual reports published by the National Observatory on Violence against Women, approved in 2007 (1st Report), 2009 (2nd Report), 2010 (3rd Report) and 2011 (4th Report), draw on information about gender-based violence referring, on the one hand, to the period before implementation of the Comprehensive Protection Law and up to 2007 (1st Report) and, on the other, to statistical data available up to the end of 2008 (2nd Report), 2009 (3rd Report) and 2010 (4th Report), respectively.

The 1st Report by the Observatory included as an annex a system of gender-based-violence indicators and variables. The 2nd Annual Report by the Observatory also included the findings of research into life experience of women disabled by gender-based violence, which had been commissioned by the Government Office for Gender-based Violence. The 3rd Annual Report included a report by the research group into parental alienation syndrome, the result of the work done by a group established within the Observatory. The 4th Annual Report included a report by a research group created to investigate the extent to which infants exposed to gender-based violence (either as witnesses or victims) are susceptible to becoming direct victims in later life.

As regards the statistical data, the number of indicators and statistical variables deriving from them has increased from one report to the next, as has data disaggregation.

The 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th Annual Reports have been published in the collection entitled "Against Gender-based Violence. Documents" in both physical and digital format. The full reports have also been published in digital format in English, and the respective executive reports have been published in digital format in Spanish, French and English. All of the reports are available for download from the Ministry of Health, Social Services and Equality website.

Structure and contents

The content of the Observatory's 5th Annual Report, approved on 5 July 2013, is as follows:

- Statistical annual report on gender-based violence, produced by the Subdirectorate-General for Prevention and Management of Knowledge of Gender-based Violence, divided into 16 sections and an annex containing a summary of the data for each autonomous community and province.

STATISTICAL ANNUAL REPORT ON GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE

As part of the Observatory's 5th Annual Report, the Statistical Annual Report presents the data collected on gender-based violence in 2011. In addition, it compiles these with the data collected in previous years to allow for analysis and interpretation of the entire period and so provide a better and more comprehensive understanding of the reality as regards gender-based violence in Spain. It also provides information on victim and aggressor behaviour, on the number of formal complaints of gender-based violence filed, on the resources made available to victims of gender-based violence, and on changes in social perception of gender-based violence, among other aspects.

Adopts the same structure as the 4th Annual Report, comprising 16 sections (described in detail below) containing analysis drawn fundamentally from the overall data collected on gender-based violence in Spain in 2011.

1. Fatal victims of gender-based violence.

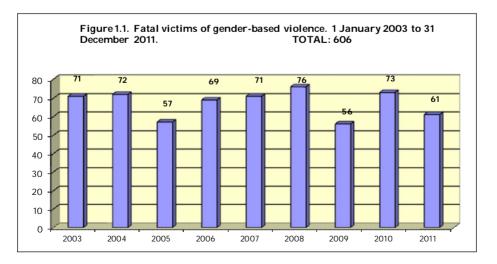

1 January 2003 to 31 December 2011.

Source: Ministry of Health, Social Services and Equality. Subdirectorate-General for Prevention and Management of Knowledge of Gender-based Violence.

The data for 2003–2005 come from the Institute for Women's Affairs, which compiled its information from media sources. The data for 2006 onwards were provided by the Government Office for Gender-based Violence.

Number of fatal victims: In 2011, there were 61 fatal victims, bringing the total number of fatal victims between 2003 and 2011 to 606. Overall, 55.6% of the women murdered in Spain during this period were killed by their partners or ex-partners.

The graph below shows how the number of women murdered by their partners or ex-partners has fluctuated. Notably, 2009 produced the fewest number of fatal victims in the eight-year period under review.

Formal complaints filed by fatal victims: Of the 61 fatal victims in 2011, only 26.2% (16 women) had filed a formal complaint against their aggressors. Similarly, only 10 fatal victims had requested protective measures, which had been granted to 9 of them.

With regard to judicial action brought by the courts prior to the victims' death, it is noteworthy that of the 406 fatal victims recorded between 1 January 2006 and 31 December 2011 (the only period for which this information is available), formal complaints of abuse were only filed against 113 aggressors (27.8%), meaning that in 293 cases (72.2%), abuse was not reported.

It remains as essential as ever to improve data collection, making it systematic and exhaustive, in order to learn the reasons why prior formal complaints were only filed in 26% of cases; why some women withdrew the formal complaint when they were obviously suffering abuse; why in some cases there was no follow-up to the formal complaint; and why some women who filed formal complaints did not apply for protection measures. Equally, it is essential to know how death could have been avoided in those cases in which victims had been provided with protective measures.

The persistence of the crimes and the variability of the data on them over the period bring into relief the fact that gender-based violence, both in general as well as in its most brutal manifestation, affects the entire country and is a haphazard phenomenon. Equally, it is worth recalling that each murder substantially alters the figures and their distribution.

Comparing the mean annual number of fatal victims of gender-based violence in the years before and after the introduction of the Comprehensive Protection Law shows that the number of these crimes has fallen since 2005.

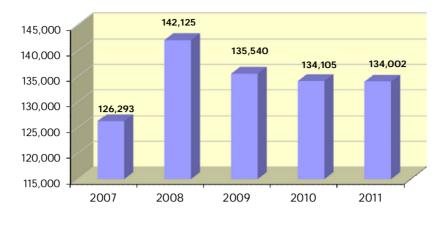

However, it would be inappropriate to assess the effectiveness of the Comprehensive Protection Law solely on the basis of the number of fatal victims, as that would overlook the number of women's lives saved as a result of the resources made available to them under the Comprehensive Protection Law.

2. Formal complaints of gender-based violence. 1 January 2007 to 31 December 2011.

Source: General Council of the Judiciary.

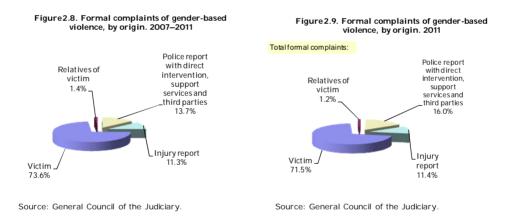

In 2011, the courts received a total of 134,002 formal complaints of gender-based violence, equivalent to a monthly mean of 11,167, and a daily mean of 367. There was therefore a slight year-on-year decrease (0.1%) in the number of formal complaints of gender-based violence.

Source: General Council of the Judiciary.

Analysis of the 672,065 formal complaints filed between 2007 and 2011 by origin shows that 494,363 were filed directly with the police or courts by victims of gender-based violence; 92,270 originated from police reports as a result of direct intervention, or were filed by support services or third parties in general; 75,917 originated from injury reports; and 9,515 were filed by relatives of the victim.

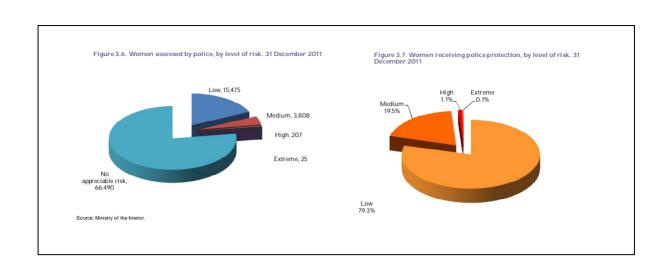

3. Female victims of gender-based violence receiving active police assistance.

31 December 2011.

Source: Government Office for Gender-based Violence (Secretariat of State for Equality. Ministry of Health, Social Policy and Equality).

As at 31 December 2011, 97,320 female victims of gender-based violence were considered to be active cases of this type of violence and were receiving assistance of some kind from the national law enforcement agencies. Of that number, 11,315 women were pending risk assessment. According to the most recent assessment in each case, 19,515 women were considered to be high-risk victims and, as a consequence, were receiving not only active police assistance but also active police protection. In 66,490 cases, the most recent assessment was that no appreciable risk existed.

From these data it may be concluded that for every million females aged 15 and over resident in Spain, 952 were victims at risk of suffering further gender-based violence and, consequently, had been provided with active police protection.

4. Judicial data on gender-based violence.

31 December 2011.

Source: Ministry of Justice.

Special courts: As at 31 December 2011, Spain had 461 courts authorised to deal with cases of violence against women. Of that number, 106 were specialised courts dealing exclusively with violence against women and 355 were non-exclusive courts authorised to try such cases.

Criminal courts and criminal courtrooms in provincial courts: Likewise, as at 31 December 2011, Spain had 24 specialised criminal courts and 72 courtrooms in provincial courts exclusively hearing cases of violence against women in accordance with the terms of Article 1 of the Comprehensive Protection Law.

Legal aid: In 2011, and within the territory administered by the Ministry of Justice, a total of 6,881 women received counsel under the legal aid system.

Comprehensive Forensic Assessment Units: In 2011, within the territory administered by the Ministry of Justice, a total of 9 Comprehensive Forensic Assessment Units were in operation, served by 26 psychologist–social worker teams.

5. 016 - Helpline providing information and legal advice on gender-based violence.

3 September 2007 to 31 December 2011.

Source: Government Office for Gender-based Violence (Secretariat of State for Equality. Ministry of Health, Social Policy and Equality).

In 2011, the 016 helpline providing information and legal advice on gender-based violence received a total of 70,679 calls relating to gender-based violence. This figure was slightly higher (4.4%) than the number received in 2010 (67,696).

Between 3 September 2007 and 31 December 2011, the helpline received 297,582 calls relating to gender-based violence (see graph below).

Since the 016 helpline went into operation, by caller type 75.3% of calls were made by female helpline users, while relatives and friends accounted for 22.0% and professional support staff accounted for 2.7%.

6. Helpline for children and adolescents at risk.

January to December 2011.

From January 2010 onwards, information is available on calls made to the Child and Adolescent Helpline for Minors at Risk, and to the Adult and Family Helpline for adults seeking guidance on how best to help minors within their immediate circle. The service provides psychological, social and legal guidance and support

In 2011, the service received 792 calls about gender-based violence:

- 105 calls referred to situations in which a female minor was the direct victim of genderbased violence; and
- 687 calls referred to situations of gender-based violence in which a minor formed part of a female victim's family circle.

The mean age of the minors directly affected by gender-based violence was 16, while the mean age of the minors experiencing gender-based violence within their family circle was 10.

As regards the aggressors identified in calls referring to minors experiencing gender-based violence within their family circle, 93.0% of aggressors were the minor's father, while 6.7% were the current partner or husband of the minor's mother.

7. Female users of the assistance and protection helpline for victims of gender-based violence (ATENPRO).

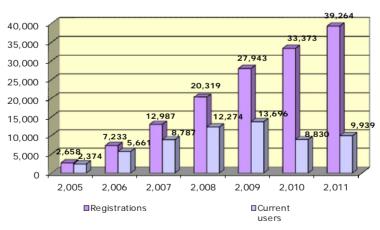

December 2005 to December 2011.

Source: IMSERSO and Government Office for Gender-based Violence (Ministry of Health, Social Policy and Equality).

Between going into operation and the end of 2011, the service had been used by a total of 39,264 women.

The number of female users registered with the service increased steadily between 2005 and 2009. However, in 2010, following rationalisation of the service, in which helplines that had not been used for months — along with others that it was not possible to contact — were taken out of operation, the number of registered users fell significantly.

As at 31 December 2011, the number of women using the assistance and protection helpline for victims of gender-based violence stood at 9,939, up by 12.6% on the figure at the close of 2010 (8,830).

8. Subsidised employment contracts for female victims of violence (1 January 2003 to 31 December 2011) and substitution contracts for victims of gender-based violence (1 January 2005 to 31 December 2011).

Source: State Public Employment Service (Ministry of Employment and Immigration).

Between 1 January 2003 and 31 December 2011, a total of 3,228 subsidised employment contracts for female victims of violence were registered. Of that number; 464 were formalised, with permanent contracts accounting for 163 of them and temporary contracts accounting for 301.

Between 1 January 2005 and 31 December 2011, a total of 637 substitution contracts for employed female victims of gender-based violence were registered. Of that number, 147 were registered in the last year of the period.

9. Female victims of gender-based violence receiving labour-market-integration benefit. 1 January 2006 to 31 December 2011.

Source: State Public Employment Service (Ministry of Employment and Immigration).

In 2011, a total of 29,065 unemployed female victims of violence received labour-marketintegration benefit (RAI), 13.9% more than in 2010.

At the end of 2011, the Government Office for Gender-based Violence held on record that, between 2006 and 2011, financial aid had been granted to 1,365 female victims of gender-based violence under Article 27 of the Comprehensive Protection Law. Of that number, 290 victims received that aid in 2011.

11. Temporary residence and work permits granted to foreign female victims of genderbased violence.

Data recorded between 2005 and 31 December 2011. Source: Ministry of Territorial Policy and Public Administration.

Between 2005 and December 2011, temporary residence and work permits were granted to 3,084 female victims of gender-based violence aged 16 and over. Of that number, 515 were granted in 2011.

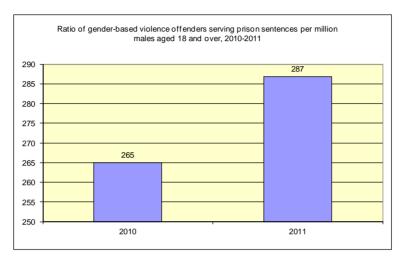

The nationalities of the female victims of violence granted temporary residence permits in Spain are shown in the following chart.

12. Gender-based violence offenders serving prison sentences. 31 December 2011. Source: Directorate-General for Penitentiary Institutions (Ministry of the Interior).

As at 31 December 2011, the total number of male offenders serving prison sentences stood at 65,184. Of that number, 5,4481 (8.4%) were serving sentences for crimes of gender-based violence, representing an 8.3% increase (an additional 418 prisoners) on 2010 (when the number stood at 5.030).

Total number of gender-based violence offenders serving prison sentences in 2010: 5,030 Total number of gender-based violence offenders serving prison sentences in 2011: 5,448

In addition, 155 gender-based violence offenders were held on remand (29.7% for murder or manslaughter of their partner or ex-partner), representing 1.4% of males held on remand.

13. Electronic monitoring of restraining orders on gender-based violence offenders. 24 July 2009 to 31 December 2011.

Source: Government Office for Gender-based Violence (Secretariat of State for Equality. Ministry of Health, Social Policy and Equality).

Since electronic monitoring of restraining orders on gender-based violence offenders began on 24 July 2009, and through to 31 December 2011, a total of 1,323 pairs of electronic devices were fitted. Of the 1,323 fitted, 542 had been removed by the end of 2010, leaving 781 active pairs of devices in operation as at 31 December 2010.

14. Social perception of violence against women

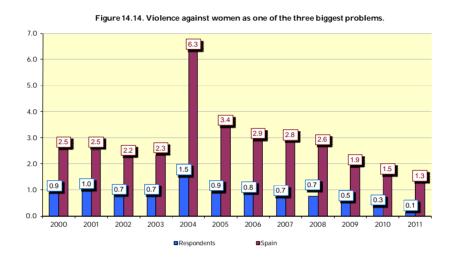

September 2000 to December 2011. Source: CIS (Centre for Sociological Research).

Every month, a small proportion of the sample interviewed has considered violence against women to be one of the three biggest problems affecting Spain and/or affecting them personally. The fluctuations in the results obtained, which peak in 2004 and 2005 — the period in which the Comprehensive Protection Law was being drafted, approved and implemented — are probably due to the fact that during those months female victims of gender-based violence received extensive media coverage and the issue was treated as a specific phenomenon requiring concrete measures to eradicate it. The data for 2011 have not altered the trend.

Between September 2000 and December 2011, a total of 308,212 persons were interviewed, producing a monthly mean of 2,266 interviews. Overall, 8,335 (2.7%) of the people interviewed stated that violence against women was one of the three biggest problems affecting Spain, while 2,271 (0.7%) said that it was one of the three biggest problems affecting them personally.

The phenomenon is perceived differently by men and women, with more of the latter considering it a cause for concern. Of the 8,335 persons interviewed over the period under review who stated that violence against women was one of the three biggest problems affecting Spain, 71.1% were women and 28.9% were men.

15. Opinion polls on gender-based violence.

June 2009 / June 2010 / June 2011.

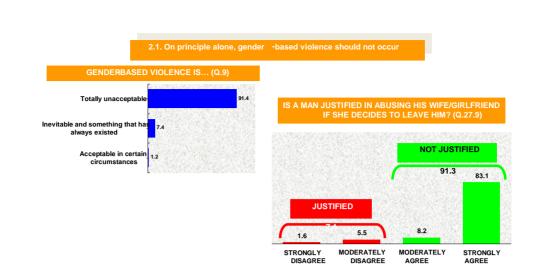

Source: Government Office for Gender-based Violence (Secretariat of State for Equality. Ministry of Health, Social Policy and Equality).

In June 2009, the Government Office for Gender-based Violence conducted an opinion poll, via the internet, on gender-based violence. It repeated the poll in June 2010 and June 2011, using essentially the same questionnaire in all three polls. Analysis of the main findings, and comparison against those of 2009, was carried out in co-operation with sociologist Fernando González Hermosilla. In total, 5,000 persons were surveyed (1,000 in 2009; 2,000 in 2010; and 2,000 in 2011).

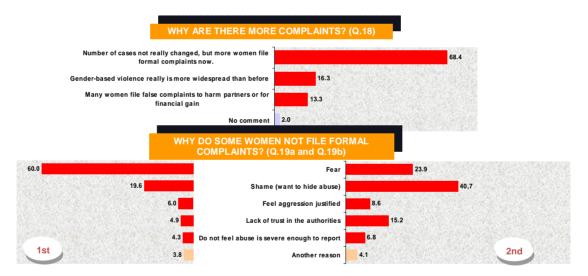

The most significant conclusions about the state of opinion on gender-based violence can be grouped into two large blocks:

1. Shaping of the state of opinion on gender-based violence

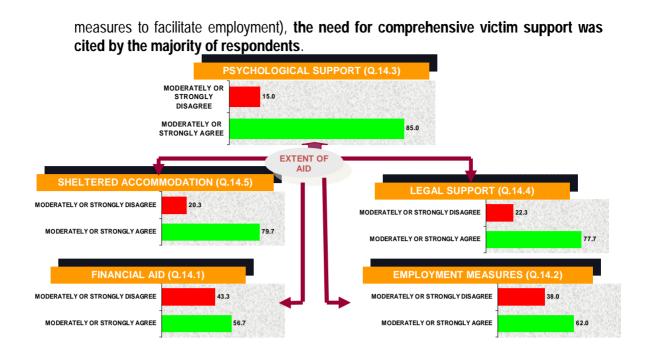

Even though gender-based violence is generally repudiated as unacceptable on principle (91.4%), the majority opinion is that it is not restricted to a few rare cases, but that it is a fairly widespread phenomenon in Spain (86.8%) that shows no sign of declining at present.

- Even though the majority of respondents believed it to be a fairly widespread phenomenon, only a small minority (10%) claimed to have witnessed or experienced it directly (female friends, work colleagues, or in person). This indicates that gender-based violence continues to remain concealed within the private domain.
- Even though 81.4% of the sample disagreed with the assertion that the majority of formal complaints filed by women were false, a not inconsiderable minority (10.1% of women and 16.5% of men) felt that many women attempted to pervert the law intended to protect them by filing false formal complaints.

- 2. Main reasons why respondents believe many women do not file formal complaints:
 - A sizeable majority believed that fear (60%) and shame (19.6%) were the main reasons why many women did not report abuse and why they concealed it from their immediate circle.
 - Even though increasing priority was given to measures aimed at providing victims with a rapid escape from situations of abuse (provision of psychological and legal support, and of sheltered accommodation) over those aimed at sustaining that escape (financial aid and

Even though significant divisions emerged between the sexes with regard to the most effective mechanisms used to combat gender-based violence, with men highlighting the role of education (62.1% vs 47.5%) and women stressing the importance of tougher sentencing (29.5% vs 17.9%), in both cases the majority emphasised the importance of social measures such as education and greater public awareness (54.8% and 33.6%, respectively).

16. Opinion polls on media treatment of gender-based violence.

November 2009 / November 2010 / November 2011.

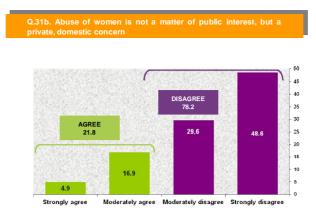

Source: Government Office for Gender-based Violence (Secretariat of State for Equality. Ministry of Health, Social Policy and Equality).

In 2009, 2010 and 2011, the Government Office for Gender-based Violence conducted three opinion polls via the internet on the media's treatment of gender-based violence. Analysis of the results of the polls was supported by a poll of over 900 media professionals on the same issue and was conducted in co-operation with sociologist Fernando González Hermosilla. The purpose of the polls was to discover the points of view of both the emitters (media professionals) and the receivers (general population not working in the media) of the news.

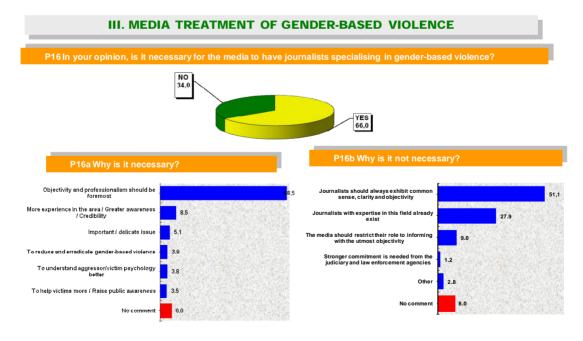

The main conclusions were as follows:

The term used by the majority to define abuse by a man of his partner or expartner was "gender-based violence" (67.7% in two response options). It was followed in order of magnitude by "domestic violence" (around 30%), the colloquial form "violence against women" and the form emphasising the sexist nature of the behaviour "chauvinist violence".

A significant majority of the sample (78.2%) openly disagreed that it was a domestic problem, stating that gender-based violence was a matter of public interest.

- Around 95% of the general population consulted named the media as the main source of information on gender-based violence. In fact, TV, radio and print media accounted for 90.1% of first-mention responses and 89.3% of second mentions. Backing this up, 88.4% of the sample stated that "The media are the main source of information about gender-based violence."
- Television was the medium cited as providing the most sensationalist coverage of gender-based violence (83.4%), but it was also seen as being the most effective in combating it (85%).
- A significant majority of the population surveyed agreed that media objectivity when reporting on gender-based violence was related to professional capacity for such objectivity and therefore believed that schools of journalism and universities should provide specific training on how to report this type of news (69% of men and 77.4% of women interviewed).
